

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF MASSACHUSETTS
CENTRAL DIVISION

STANDING ORDER RE: COURTROOM OPPORTUNITIES FOR RELATIVELY INEXPERIENCED ATTORNEYS

SAYLOR, J.
HILLMAN, M.J.

Courtroom opportunities for relatively inexperienced attorneys, particularly those who practice at larger firms, have declined precipitously across the nation in recent years. That decline is due to a variety of factors, but has been exacerbated by the proliferation of rules and orders requiring the appearance of “lead” counsel in many court proceedings.

In an effort to counter that trend, the undersigned District Judge and Magistrate Judge, as a matter of policy, strongly encourage the participation of relatively inexperienced attorneys in all court proceedings. Such attorneys may handle not only relatively routine matters (such as scheduling conferences or discovery motions), but may also handle, where appropriate, more complex matters (such as motions for summary judgment or the examination of witnesses at trial). The following cautions, however, shall apply.

First, even relatively inexperienced attorneys will be held to the highest professional standards with regard to any matter as to which experience is largely irrelevant. In particular, all attorneys appearing in court are expected to be appropriately prepared, regardless of experience. For example, any attorney who is arguing a motion for summary judgment is expected to be thoroughly familiar with the factual record and the applicable law.

Second, all attorneys appearing in court should have a degree of authority commensurate with the proceeding that they are assigned to handle. For example, an attorney appearing at a scheduling conference ordinarily should have the authority to propose and agree to a discovery schedule and any other matters reasonably likely to arise at the conference.

Third, relatively inexperienced attorneys who seek to participate in evidentiary hearings of substantial complexity, such as examining a witness at trial, should be accompanied and supervised by a more experienced attorney, unless leave of Court is granted otherwise.

Counsel are encouraged to seek additional guidance from the Court in particular cases concerning the scope or application of this policy.

So Ordered.
